Global Leadership for Health Education & Health Promotion

Launch your career with SOPHE as a Transitional Member!

SOPHE supports you through your transition from education to becoming a working health education professional. For less than $150 SOPHE offers member benefits to transitioning students and professionals. Get a jump on your career by becoming an active member of SOPHE and be eligible for scholarships and other SOPHE benefits.

- SOPHE Career Hub – Connect to health education and promotion career opportunities. Link to practitioners, researchers and employers looking for professionals with health education experience to work in diverse settings. In addition, SOPHE internships at its national headquarters in Washington, D.C. have jumpstarted many excited students' health education/promotion careers.
- Scholarships, fellowships and recognition FOR PRACTITIONERS! – SOPHE provides more than $20,000 a year in scholarships and fellowships to students and practitioners through awards including the Graduate Student Research Paper Award, SOPHE/CDC Fellowships and 21st Century Scholarships.
- Present your research – SOPHE's exclusive focus on health education gives students more opportunities to present research at our annual conference – posters and in-person sessions. Also keep an eye for webinar call for abstracts!
- Students/Professional Community of Practice (CoP) – Connect with a diverse, dynamic community that gives you the opportunity to share your experiences and ideas, get career help from those who have been there and meet folks who are going the same way. Nearly 550 students and new professionals enjoy interactions with others via this virtual community.
- Leadership – Build your leadership skills and your resume by serving on a SOPHE committee. Exercise your passion to make a difference and grow your job connections. Pursue the Emerging Leaders (FREE online course) to learn more about how you can take the next step within SOPHE to grow your personal and professional skills.

“...I spent time searching for an organization to find the right one that would be a good fit for my passions and interests. I was looking for an organization that would push me to develop my interests through new outlets, and continually explore the field of health education and promotion. I came across the Society for Public Health Education and I knew I had found the perfect fit for me.”

- Taylor Lacey, SOPHE 21st Century scholarship recipient
